The scene that followed Judge Belford's appearance on the platform in the afternoon beggars description The entire convention arose to its feet and cheered for some minutes Judge Belford received the most enthusiastic applause throughout his brief speech Mr Frissell, of Jefferson county, who said many witty things during the afternoon, arose at the close of Judge Belford's speech and moved that "the clapping, waving of hats, etc, be dispensed with, as it made Tommy feel bad" The songs by the glee club had some splendid hits on Loveland and Patterson, and were received with tremendous applause

There is evidently a desire for harmony, and the convention when it meets to-morrow will put in nomination its best men, as we stated last night Messrs Pitkin, Belford and Shattuck will be nominated by acclamation The contest for the lieutenant governorship lies between Moynahan of Park, and Tabor of Lake, with the chances decidedly in favor of the latter

C. P. Elder, of Denver, is developing considerable strength for the position of secretary of state, though Clark still leads Stimson, of Pueblo and Elliott, of Del Norte, are still the prominent candidates for the position of auditor, and there is little change from last night Dr Culver, of El Paso, now has the best prospects for state treasurer Custer, Gilpin, Boulder, Las Animas and Bent counties are solid for him, and he has also support in many other delegations His friends have worked like beavers for him and they deserve to succeed Since yesterday noon his strength has been rapidly increasing and to-night there is hardly a doubt of his nomination on the first ballot The republicans are confident that the ticket nominated to-morrow will carry the state by an immense majority. Thomas C Parrish, the republican candidate for senator in Custer and Fremont counties, is here and has wielded a strong influence in favor of the nomination of Dr. Culver.

The ovation given Judge Belford this morning was one of the grandest ever given to mortal man To say that the college auditorium was packed but faintly describes the size of the audience which greeted him His speech was made from the same stand where Patterson made his defense last week Tuesday evening Belford made a [illegible] An abstract of the speech can give no idea of its power and force, it was throughout a terrible arraignment of Patterson and the democratic party for fraud, falsehood and dishonesty The cobweb arguments of Patterson were completely swept away and he stood convicted as a thief before 1,500 of the most intelligent of his fellow citizens The republicans are jubilant to-night over a joint discussion between Belford and Patterson, and are only too anxious for the contest to commence

Suicide in Boulder.

BOULDER, August 7 —A Webber, a tailor, shot himself this evening, dying almost instantly He has been drinking hard for some time and extreme mental depression is the only cause assigned

GENERAL NEWS.

Kearney's Boston Work.

NEW YORK, August 7 —The Tribune's Boston correspondent, describing the meeting at Faneuil Hall Monday night, says the great trouble with Dennis Kearney is that he has absolutely nothing to say He has as few ideas in his head as any man I ever heard speak He has no facts, no statistics, and if I can read signs aright a few more victories like that of Monday night will finish his career forever People were tired of him long before he was done, and fatal sign several left the hall before his speech was ended The impression I came away with was that he had been looking about him carefully since he came here and that the vast difference between this community and the one he glories in representing had been borne on him in a way to take all the starch out of his stock in trade He had found, too, that nobody wanted his indecency, and that his profanity was not needed either I confess to a great disappointment I went to the meeting expecting to hear the cause of workingmen, and he has a cause set forth by one of his fellows who was dead in earnest I found a big, blustering school boy who put me off with bombastic words, one long, silly, utterly pointless story about a crowd and an old woman, illustrating nothing, and never a fact, a statistic, a statement of principle, not an appeal to anything—the intelligence, hearts or souls of his hearers In California his great card was the Chinese here he finds that falls flat, and Monday night he tried to raise some feeling on the subject, but could not raise a spark He only spoke a few moments on this subject and seeing that his hearers cared nothing for it he let it drop As he had finished his speech he left the hall and the interest that had come dangerously near flagging once or twice died away with a faint party cheer Butler was not there, but his spirit was, and Kearney and all the crowd present were tools in his hands and will be led to the slaughter by him like silly sheep that they are Kearney feels his position. He is not the man we were promised and we know it, and the workingmen of Boston know it and will come to think so presently.

Chinese Matters.

CHICAGO, August 7 —The Wednesday Times' Washington special says Secretary Evarts laid before the cabinet to-day a communication to the effect that the Chinese embassy will arrive here on the first of September He was requested to prepare a programme for their hospitable reception, as the President is anxious to do everything in his power to conciliate China By the Star this evening we learn upon the authority of a member of the Chinese embassy that the visit of Mr. Chin, senior ambassador, to Hartford is to consult with his associate, Mr. Wing, and to rest for a few days in the interim [illegible] while preparations are made here for the embassy It is perhaps not generally known but it is a fact that the Chinese government owns a spacious building in Hartford in which the entire embassy can be accommodated and cared for by their own countrymen They will tarry for a few days simply to prepare for their presentation to the president and their permanent residence in Washington The statement that the embassy have rented the Stewart mansion for a residence is incorrect No choice has yet been made of a house

The removal of Gen Julius Stahel and the appointment of David H Bailey as vice consul general at Shanghai, China, will still further complicate congressional investigation into the affairs of that consulate A subpœna duces tecum had been issued to General Stahel, requiring him to furnish transcripts of the bank accounts of Consul General Seward and Vice Consul General Bradford during the time they had charge of the consulate This subpœna served upon Mr Stahel after his removal will be of no avail and a new subpœna duces tecum will have to issue from the house of representatives to Mr Bailey after he assumes his duties at the consulate This will delay the investigation at least a month and prevent the committee from having their report ready by the time congress meets in December It has already been charged that the state department is responsible for delaying the investigation in every way possible and this change in management of the consulate at this time is at least regarded as in very bad taste, if not intended Mr Bailey is now on his way to Shanghai and will arrive there some time next month In the meanwhile a new subpœna will issue for him and be transmitted through the state department by the next mail

McSween's Outlaws

SANTA FE, N M, August 7 —The latest from the Lincoln county troubles indicate that the death of McSween has broken up the organization of the outlaws and thieves They are dispersed over the territory and southern Colorado robbing and stealing, having abandoned Lincoln county, where there are warrants for them The last of their acts was the stealing of the stock of the mail company at Bernal. There were eight of them and they stole eight head of horses. They arrived at or near Las Vegas where they sent three of their number, one Mexican and two Americans, into the town to look out for the officers of the law while the other five, who are all young men armed with revolvers and having a swaggering look, went to the station of the U S mail company and stole the horses They stayed around some days, it is thought with the view of getting information from their confederates in Las Vegas and robbing the mail or stage. They finally left with their stolen stock in the direction of Colfax county and southern Colorado, where it is thought they have more friends and sympathizers It is now known that this band was gathered together by the use of five thousand dollars reward which the father of Tunstall authorized to be used for the arrest and conviction of the person who killed his son This five thousand dollars was divided between 12 of them only This caused great dissatisfaction, especially as none of the persons who were present at the killing of Tunstall, although they had been arrested for the murder, had been either tried or convicted. So to satisfy the band it was reported and given out by McSween that the father of Tunstall had directed him to use the whole estate in hunting down the deputy sheriff and posse, who were present when Tunstall resisted and was killed McSween had about $3,000 of this money and agreed to pay at the rate of three dollars per day per man until it was all gone, this to be divided between about twenty. The Mexicans were pressed into service and others were induced to join under promise of big stealing, until the number was swelled to over 60 They had no respect for persons or property, stole from every one who did not aid or join them, shot at everybody they met if he was not their friend Every crime known to the law has been committed by them, and now most of them have left, stealing and robbing on the way This band has been in part supported by some large cattle men on the Pecos, who desired to monopolize the whole range and cattle business in that country, and they in fact are to blame for a great portion of the lawlessness in that country

The military is a posse comitatus acting with the sheriff and was at one time within two miles of them on their trail when an order recalled them on receipt of the passage of law preventing their use as a posse Had they have gone on, several lives would have been saved and peace restored in that county, over a month ago The military are anxious to act, but they cannot. Their hands are tied The most they will attempt to do is to protect women and children and prevent a wanton destruction of property by means of guards stationed around. All the good citizens of Lincoln now hope for peace and good times again.

LATER

Information has just been received here that a portion of McSween's band of outlaws attacked the Muscalero Indian agency in Lincoln county on the 5th instant, murdered M J. Bernstein, the agent's clerk, and stole all of the agency horses and some of the Indians'. This is liable to cause an Indian outbreak Since Peppin, sheriff of Lincoln county, and deputy U S marshal, with his posse attacked and killed McSween, the leader of the outlaws, while attempting to arrest them, they have scattered and are now roaming through Lincoln county and other portions of the territory

Terrible Accident.

PITTSBURG, August 7 —The fast line on the Pittsburg Cincinnati and St Louis railroad, which left this city at 11 47 last night, met with a terrible accident at a point one and a half miles west of Mingo Junction, Ohio The train was composed of two sleepers, one hotel car, one baggage, two postal cars, and two coaches, the latter being occupied by emigrants At 1 a m, at the point named, the fast line, which was 20 minutes behind time and running at the rate of 40 miles an hour, collided with a freight train The entire train except the hotel cars and sleepers was thrown from the track and fearfully wrecked Eleven or twelve persons are reported killed, and fifteen to twenty seriously wounded All passengers in the sleepers escaped without serious injury The loss of life was confined to those in the forward cars, occupied by the postal clerks and emigrants

The Cincinnati postal car was thrown over an embankment 30 feet and completely demolished The postal clerks, Frank D Graham, A. W. Andrews and W. Johnson were killed; Charles L Moran had a [illegible] The St. Louis car was thrown over an embankment on its end and badly wrecked, the postal clerks were injured, but it is supposed not fatally The baggage and emigrant cars were thrown from the track and badly wrecked, while the coach and sleeper remained on the track The following is a partial list of the killed and wounded Killed—W R Johnson Frank D Graham, A W Anderson, Mrs Cullen, of Bridgeport, Conn, and Patrick Gannon of Barry, Pa Wounded—Maria Cullen and four grandchildren of Mrs Cullen, of Bridgeport, Conn, Mrs Francis Owen and and three children of Bridgeport, Conn, James Cullen, foot smashed, Fannie Cullen, injured internally, Mrs Edward Borne, of Louisville, Ky., leg sprained and back hurt Mrs McCoshe, of Glasgow, Scotland, Mrs. James Romaine, of Glasgow, and two children, twins 7 years old, Mrs James Agnew, of Allegheny, left leg fractured, Edward Downing, of Allegheny, hip joint dislocated, J W Haynes, of Allegheny, right leg broken, R D Agnew, of Allegheny internally, Mr McCormick, Ireland and Mary McDowell London, England internally Mary Haley, New Roselle seriously internally, Geo Thompson, Washington, D C body and leg mangled R K Cornwell, leg cut and body bruised Samuel Sample, Philadelphia, bruised on head and chest E von Peter New York, internally, B Thomas, Philadelphia leg broken and skull fractured, John Phillips, Harrison county, concussion of brain serious, E Downing, Allegheny City, pelvis fractured, John R Schafer, Monticello, Ind, bruised, Mrs F Burke, Brooklyn wrist sprained and head bruised Conductor Graham, hurt about the head, J C Fulton, Bergestown, Pa, jaw broken Owing to the fact that most of the killed and wounded were emigrants, difficulty was experienced in getting a list of the casualties The killed and wounded were taken on a special train to Steubenville, Ohio, where the officers of the road did everything in their power to make the wounded comfortable Both public and private houses were opened to receive them, and they received the attention of the best physicians in the town

Bankers at the Springs.

SARATOGA, August 7 The Banks Association begun its annual session to-day. Secretary Sherman and the commissioner of internal revenue sent letters regretting absence R C. Hale, cashier of the State national bank of Keokuk, read a paper on subsidiary silver coinage, holding that Congress should provide for the redemption of subsidiary in legal tender coin, This would relieve banks of the fear of accumulating unavailable funds and give currency to coin, extending its usefulness to the profit and convenience of the people. J. D. Haye, Detroit, read a paper on hard times He said "Tell us to invest one dollar to fifty millions that will pay expenses and bring back five per cent. and money's now waiting ready and anxious to step into business. There are over $2,500,000,000 in railroad bonds and stocks which pay the owners nothing There are five hundred millions in iron furnaces and manufacturing establishments and six hundred millions in shipping, hopelessly tied up. Shall we clear forests of lumber and convert it into money? We make enough now annually to load a continuous train 30,000 miles long The purchasing power of money is about three times as much in times of inflation More irredeemable money would not help us out. We have no greater proportion of poor men than other countries There are numerous persons waiting for something to turn up, too lazy to work, trying to get something for nothing."

Washington Greenbackers.

WASHINGTON, August 7 The members of the greenback party who assembled here Tuesday state in their declaration of principles that United States bonds should bear the burden of government equally with all other property and any legislation that exempts said bonds from taxation is unjust and oppressive Full legal tender currency for all is favored, a currency alike in value in every man's hand, the unconditional repeal of the resumption act, the lawful liberation of coin hoarded in the treasury and the removal of all restrictions to the coinage of silver are demanded. Realizing that specie never can be sufficient to supply the commercial demands of the country, the issue of treasury notes to such an extent as will fully satisfy the requirements of trade is favored, such notes to be made full legal tender. The retirement of bank currency and the substitution of greenbacks is demanded. Further issue of interest bearing bonds on any account at any rate of interest by the government is opposed, and while monopolies, subsidies and special privileges are opposed, a judicious expenditure of treasury notes on internal improvements and the construction of such rail highways as will furnish protection to our maritime frontiers and open new markets for the production of American industry is favored

Arizona Indians

SAN FRANCISCO, August 7 —There is considerable excitement at Yuma, Arizona, over a threatened raid by Indians, who have recently gathered in some numbers in the vicinity of the town, encouraged by the absence of the troops, which have been sent to Idaho, and inflamed with whisky surreptitiously furnished them. The citizens guard the approach to the town.

Wheat Grades.

NEW YORK, August 8.—The commissioner of the grain and produce exchange to-day considered grades of grain The only changes made in grades from last year were the insertion of the words "pure amber" in No. 1 amber winter wheat, which shall be, "bright, sound, dry, plump, pure amber and well cleaned", the substitution of the word "winter" for "white" in No 1 amber white wheat sound, dry, plump, and well cleaned, the insertion of the words "or amber" in No 2 red winter wheat, which shall consist of "sound red or amber winter wheat unfit to grade No 1" Other grades unchanged

FOREIGN.

American Monetary Matters.

LONDON August 7 —The Times says the price of United States bonds continues weaker, owing to the noticeable diminution of American purchasers These seem to fluctuate more or less with shipments of grain When shipments were large the buying was, when they decreased so did the demand for bonds It is probable therefore, with the renewed activity recently observed in the American wheat trade, the price of bonds will again harden It will be extremely interesting to see whether the currency demands of the American government under the resumption scheme will not now lead to the withdrawal of gold instead of bonds, for should gold go in any quantity during the coming autumn the European money market might be seriously embarrassed.

Wonderful to relate! Ex Secretary Belknap has not yet declined for the third term

Patterson is still on the defensive a position which he will find much more unpleasant to hold after this week

Patterson will soon have an opportunity to redeem his pledge Judge Belford is already primed and ready to go off at the first opportunity

The congressional committee now in session at New York received a little light from Mr Marshall a large ship owner on Monday

Greenbackers should remember that the democratic party opposed the issuing of greenbacks in 1862, when the safety of the nation demanded it

Collector Beard of Boston is justifying the wisdom of his appointment He has greatly reduced the expenses of the custom house and is rapidly increasing its efficiency

It is said that Harley Morse s courage is not as good as it was before he visited the Grand Central on Tuesday night and saw the republican cohorts marshalling for victory

While our contemporary the News is fighting so valiantly for Patterson, will it please inform the people of this state when Patterson ever did any thing to relieve the poor people of whom he talks so much

Conkling and Kelly have united in securing the appointment by the police commissioners of New York city of J J. O Brien as chief of the bureau of elections We should think even stalwarts would be taken back by the recent alliance of Conkling with Tammany.

Alexander H. Stephens was speaking of the pure Jeffersonian democracy when by way of refreshment he drew a flask of Bourbon from his pocket and took a drink Restoring the bottle to its place, he resumed his speech, saying, "This is true democracy" Mr Stephens seems to hit the nail on the head every time

Every consideration of interest and ambition, of pride in the hope of what our state may become enlists popular sympathy in the reforms in the currency urged by the democratic party —Denver News

This was evidently written by the tender foot from Missouri who does not realize that it is for the interest of this state to have gold and silver the currency of the country The democratic party demands the unconditional repeal of the resumption act, the only way in which gold and silver may be brought into circulation Our miners want gold and silver used as a currency so as to increase their value The democratic party in their platform demand the repeal of the only legislation which can accomplish this

Text of the Convention Signed at Constantinople on the 4th of June

The following is the English text of the Convention of Defensive Alliance between Great Britain and Turkey signed June 4, 1878

Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland Empress of India and his Imperial Majesty the Sultan being mutually animated with the sincere desire of extending and strengthening the relations of friendship happily existing between their two empires have resolved upon the conclusion of a Convention of Defensive Alliance with the object of securing for the future the territories in Asia of his Imperial Majesty the Sultan

Their majesties have accordingly chosen and named as their plenipotentiaries, that is to say —

Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland Empress of India the Right Hon Austen Henry Layard, her Majesty s Ambassador Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary at the Sublime Porte, and his Imperial Majesty, the Sultan, his Excellency Safvet Pasha, Minister for Foreign Affairs of his Imperial Majesty who after having exchanged their full powers found in due and good form, have agreed upon the following articles

ARTICLE I If Batoum Ardahan Kars or any of them shall be retained by Russia and if any attempt shall be made at any future time by Russia to take possession of any further territories of his Imperial Majesty the Sultan in Asia as fixed by the Definite Treaty of Peace England engages to join his Imperial Majesty the Sultan in defending them by force of arms In return his Imperial Majesty the Sultan promises to England to introduce necessary reforms to be agreed upon later between the two powers, into the Government, and for the protection of the Christian and other subjects of the Porte in these territories, and in order to enable England to make necessary provision for executing her engagement his Imperial Majesty the Sultan further consents to assign the Island of Cyprus to be occupied and administered by England

ARTICLE II —The present convention shall be ratified, and the ratifications thereof be exchanged within the space of one month or sooner if possible

In witness whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have signed the same and have affixed thereto the seal of their arms

Done at Constantinople, the 4th day of June 1878.

[L S] A H LAYARD,
[L S] SAFVET

The following is the English text of the annex to the convention of Defensive Alliance between Great Britain and Turkey signed June 4th 1878

The Right Honorable Sir A H Layard, G C B and His Highness Safvet Pasha now the Grand Vizier of His Majesty the Sultan, have agreed to the following annex to the convention signed by them as plenipotentiaries of their respective governments on the 4th of June 1878

ANNEX

It is understood between the two high contracting parties that England agrees to the following conditions relating to her occupation and administration of the Island of Cyprus

1 That a Mussulman religious tribunal (Mehkemel Sheri) shall continue to exist in the island which will take exclusive cognizance of religious matters and of no others concerning the Mussulman population of the island

2 That a Mussulman resident of the island shall be named by the Board of Pious Foundations in Turkey (Evkraf) to superintend, in conjunction with a delegate to be appointed by the British authorities, the administration of the property funds and lands belonging to mosques, cemeteries Mussulman schools and other religious establishments existing in Cyprus

3 That England will pay to the Porte whatever is the present excess of revenue over expenditure in the island this excess to be calculated upon and determined by the average of the last five years stated to be 22 936 purses to be duly verified hereafter, and to the exclusion of the produce of State and Crown lands let or sold during that period

4 That the Sublime Porte may freely sell and lease lands and other property in Cyprus belonging to the Ottoman Crown and State (Arazi Miriye ve Emlaki Houmayoun) the produce of which does not form part of the revenue of the island referred to in article 3.

5 That the English Government through their competent authorities may purchase compulsorily at a fair price land required for public improvements, or for other public purposes, and land which is not cultivated

6 That if Russia restores to Turkey Kars and the other conquests made by her in Armenia during the last war the Island of Cyprus will be evacuated by England, and the convention of the 4th of June, 1878, will be at an end

The True Story of the Revenge

Sir Richard Greenville was Vice Admiral to Lord Thomas Howard in 1591 off the Azores with the English squadron in 1591 He was a noted tyrant to his crew a dark bullying fellow apparently, and it is related of him that he would chew and swallow wine glasses by way of convivial levity, till the blood ran out of his mouth When the Spanish fleet of fifty sail came within sight of the English his ship the Revenge was the last to weigh anchor and was so far circumvented by the Spaniards that there were but two courses open—either to turn her back upon the enemy or sail through one of his squadrons The first alternative Greenville dismissed as dishonorable to himself his country and Her Majesty's ship Accordingly he chose the latter and steered into the Spanish armament Several vessels he forced to luff and fall under his lee until about 3 o'clock in the afternoon a great ship of three decks of ordnance took the wind out of his sails and immediately boarded Thenceforward and all night long the Revenge held her own, single handed against the Spaniards As one ship was beaten off another took its place—She endured, according to Raleigh's computation eight hundred shot of great artillery besides many assaults and entries By morning the powder was spent the pikes all broken not a stick was standing nothing left overhead either for flight or defense six feet of water in the hold almost all of the men hurt and Greenville himself in a dying condition To bring them to this pass a fleet of fifty sail had been mauling them for fifteen hours the Admiral of the Hulks and the Ascension of Seville had both gone down alongside, and two other vessels had taken refuge on shore [illegible] In Hawke's words they had taken a great deal of drubbing The captain and crew thought they had done about enough but Greenville was not of this opinion he gave orders to the master gunner whom he knew to be a fellow after his own stamp to scuttle the Revenge where she lay The others who were not mortally wounded like the admiral interfered with some decision locked the master gunner into his cabin after having deprived him of his sword for he manifested an intention to kill himself if he were not to sink the ship and sent to the Spaniards to demand terms These were granted The second or third day after Greenville died of his wounds aboard of the Spanish flagship leaving his contempt upon the traitors and dogs who had not chosen to do as he did and engage fifty vessels well found and fully manned with six inferior craft ravaged by sickness and short of stores He at least, he said had done his duty as he was bound to do and looked for everlasting fame Cornhill Magazine

HUMOROUS

Young housekeeper "I am afraid those fish I bought of you yesterday were not fresh My husband said they were not nice at all" Brighton fisherman—"Well, marm that be your fault it bean't mine I've offered 'em every day this week, and you might a 'ad 'em o Monday if you'd a looked" London Punch

Suppose said an Iowa lawyer to a witness he was trying to badger recently suppose I should tell you that I could bring a dozen men of your town to this court room who would say they would not believe you on oath what would you say? And calmly the witness made reply I would say you lied A gentle smile diffused itself all over the court room, and the unruffled witness stepped down

Stutterers are compelled to take life easily whether they will or no Two men thus afflicted were at work at a forge The iron was red hot and placed on the anvil when the first one said, John s strike it ha h hard The other answered Jim wh wh where sh sh shall I hit No m m matter now its co-co cold was the reply, and the bar was put into the forge again

The gentleman who attracted attention in church last week by crying out Holy Moses had no intention of disturbing the congregation He had been tacking down carpets on the day before and just as he sat down in his pew he suddenly remembered that he had half a paper of tacks in his coat skirt pocket We make this explanation in justice to his family who are highly respectable—Stillwater Lumberman

In a rural district of Forfarshire a young plowman once went courting on a Saturday night In vain he racked his brain for some interesting topic he could call up no subject at all suitable for the occasion not one sentence could he utter and for two long hours he sat on in silent despair, The girl herself was equally silent, she no doubt remembered the teaching of the old Scotch song "Men maun be the first to speak, and she sat patiently regarding him with demure surprise At last John exclaimed "Jenny there's a feather on your apron!" "I widna hae wondered if there had been twa," replied Jenny, "for I've been sittin aside a goose a nicht"

Mr Forney on European Beggars

The moment an American is seen in London he is known and seized and speculated on At every street crossing you are beset by importunities from the organ ized sweepers If you get into a cab a ragamuffin tears open the door and push es out a dirty hand for pay and if you drive to a station you are sure to find a beggar waiting there to levy contributions on you The janitor at the museum the guide at the show castles the conductor on the railroads are all candidates for the shilling

The street paupers of the French capital are few the vice of drink does not turn the men into fiends and the women into slaves and the habit of economy in the little aid to the work people makes that little go far in promoting their cleanliness and self respect But the beggars of Italy! Heaven save the mark—what a set they are Hard times seem to have made them harder, dirtier and more repulsive The very Italian children are taught to so their arms before they can syllable their prayers The priests implore you for se quins in the cathedrals and churches the cripple holds out his palsied hand the leper exposes his hideousness the consumptive looks from her dying eyes—all for money and when you decline they hurl their epithets after you This curse is exceptionally scarce in Germany and in Switzerland it is rapidly passing away N Y Tribune

The new depot at Placer station is nearly completed, and is said to be the finest on the road.

Two of Horton's patent reclining chair cars were received in Denver lately, and will be put on the D. & R. G. road within a few days.

Don't forget the appearance of that celebrated artiste of opera, Madame Rita, at Manitou to-night.

The firemen's tournament at Pueblo next week will greatly increase the travel over the D. & R. G. railway during the week.

Will the city fathers please look after some very objectionable holes to be found in the sidewalk on the east side of Tejon street, near Huerfano street.

Quite a large number of Puebloites are camping at Manitou just now, recruiting for the Firemen's tournament which is to be held at Pueblo next week.

Mr. Lewis Hagar and wife and Mr. A. L. Lawton and wife will start for a trip to the Elk mountains in a few days to enjoy the pleasures of camping out for a short time.

Little Gus Martin is a "chip of the old block." He is up early in the morning selling papers, and throughout the day makes a good many pennies off of his candy stand. We wish there were more boys like him.

In our present issue appears the new advertisement of D. J. Martin, our popular dry goods merchant. We would advise our readers to study it carefully and by calling upon him. you will satisfy yourselves that he is correct in his assertions.

Great preparations are being made by the citizens of Pueblo for the Firemen's Tournament, which comes off at that place on Tuesday next, the 13th instant. Delegations from all parts of the state will be in attendance, and everything looks promising for an interesting and lively time.

One of Cook & Shepherd's carriages had a "tip over" yesterday morning at the depot. Mrs. Cook, who was in the carriage at the time, was thrown out, but displayed considerable pluck in springing up and catching the horses, thus preventing a runaway.

The search for the locomotive which was lost in the quicksands of Kiowa creek, in May last, has at last proved successful. On Sunday night last the tank was discovered by workmen about thirty feet below the old bridge and ten feet under the surface. The engine is very probably under the tank, and the work of raising it will be commenced immediately.

The district court of the United States was occupied the whole of yesterday with the suit of the United States against Marc A. Shaffenburg, ex-Marshal of Colorado, and his sureties, Messrs. John Elsner, John Good, Henry Feuerstein, and Moritz Sigi. The jury rendered a verdict for the plaintiff, in the sum of $20,000, the amount of Shaffenburg's official bond. Denver Tribune.

Mr. Martin Brent, proprietor pro tem of the U. S. restaurant is proving himself to be a first-class caterer. With the assistance of Mrs. S. W. Warner, the popular steward of the dining hall, and, Mr. F. Trumpy, who has recently arrived from New York, in the kitchen, he is able to keep the tables well supplied with the best the market affords. At present the house is crowded with guests, but there is always room for one more.

One of the best hotels in southern Colorado is the Perry House at Alamosa. Mr. Perry has been for years the advance guard in the line of frontier caterers, this being No. 16 of the hotels constructed and moved forward as the railroads advanced. The Perry House, just completed at Alamosa, is the most extensive of his enterprises in this line, and is destined to become a permanent resting place for travelers and tourists. From personal knowledge we can state that this hotel is well ordered and well patronized, his table one of the best, and at least one good square meal of mountain trout every day in the year.

Mr. Lewis Hagar has about completed his residence on Nevada avenue and Pike's Peak. It contains at present six large airy rooms besides numerous closets and pantry, etc. An attractive feature is the large bay windows and the handsome plate glass in the windows. Mr. Hagar is one of those numerous persons to whom Colorado's climate has proved of great benefit.

Our Band.

The new band stand was placed in front of the Crawford House last evening, and from it the band discoursed some excellent music to an audience composed of the guests of the house and many of our citizens. We are glad to see that this deserving association has been appreciated by the citizens and further we feel assured that the band will repay in good measure whatever may be done for them. They will play another evening this week in front of the Colorado Springs Hotel.

[illegible]

To-night will be the last opportunity afforded our citizens of listening to this truly celebrated cantatrice, when she will appear at the schoolhouse in Manitou. Madame Rita possesses a wonderful voice, combining as it does both sweetness of tone and power, which invariably characterizes the true artiste. We would advise each of our citizens who did not hear her in this city to enjoy the double pleasure of a drive to Manitou and the rich musical treat which will await them. Her support is excellent.

[illegible]

Charles Porter, an old resident of Colorado Springs, is in the city making a short visit.

W. C. Bradbury left yesterday for a trip east. He will visit New York, Boston and other large cities.

W. W. Borst, the popular superintendent of the D. & R. G. railway, passed through the city yesterday, bound south.

Ben Aarons, representing Loucheim Bros., of Philadelphia, manufacturers of men's and boys' clothing is in the city. a guest at the Crawford.

J. Thomas, A. M. M. D., editor of Lippincott's Universal Gazette, and a resident of New York city, is stopping at the Manitou House. He is also an orientalist of considerable reputation.

A. E. Wright, brother of S. J. Wright, the well-known sheep man of this city, arrived yesterday from Toledo, Ohio, and is stopping at the Springs Hotel. He brought with him another lot of those fine Merino sheep.

D. C. Blackman, the genial land and excursion agent of the U. P. R. R., who has been spending a few days with H. C. Beckwith, U. S. A., of this city, left for the east yesterday morning. While here he visited the principal points of interest in our immediate vicinity that he might be thoroughly posted regarding the country where he is sending so many people. It would be useless to add that he is highly pleased with Colorado Springs.

WOOL.

The following quotations and remarks are taken from Coates Brothers' circular, dated August 1st, 1878:

Since the late public sale of blankets in New York all the wool markets have been quieter. The previous auction of flannels was, on the whole, perhaps, satisfactory; although the prices obtained were below current quotations, yet they were not lower than was generally anticipated, and the spirit shown then by buyers of woolens was encouraging to manufacturers, who were therefore disposed to buy wool freely at ruling rates. The sales of blankets, however, were at such figures as to draw the attention of manufacturers to the fact that prices of woolen goods were not yet established, and to check the purchase of wool. Woolens are certainly low and there would not seem to be room for further decline, but even at their present values manufacturers are generally paying as much for wool as they can get out of the goods. Wool is intrinsically cheap now and any permanent improvement in the market for manufactured goods will be followed by an advance in the value of wool. Our latest advices show that eastern buyers have withdrawn from most parts of the country and there may consequently be an opportunity for local operators to buy at fair prices.

Combing and delaine wools are in good request at quotations. Fine fleeces are in small supply here and firmly held. Coarse unwashed is quieter and some lots are offered at lower figures. Medium grade is in demand. Territory wools are meeting with ready sale at fair prices. Colorado and New Mexico are arriving more freely. There will probably be a good trade for them throughout the season without much change in value.

Sales of domestic wool for the month foot up about 4,500,000 pounds, and the receipts are stated at 10,000,000.

The following are the quotions for Colorado and New Mexican wool:

Choice fine, (selected)	22@25
Improved washed, (selected)	20 " 25
Improved unwashed,	17 " 20
Coarse washed, (carpet stock)	16 " 17
Coarse unwashed,	15 " 16
Black,	13 " 15

Pro Bono Publico.

It is important that the water works should be as speedily completed as possible consistent with the necessity of thorough work and satisfactory attention to all the details of construction. Quite a quantity of the pipe has already been received and there is no doubt that our energetic mayor and the board who have the matter in charge will rush the work with all possible dispatch. It is expected that the contract for the entire work of laying the pipe and setting the hydrants will be awarded during the coming week and should nothing unforeseen transpire to prevent, our citizens may soon expect to see the dirt fly along the whole line. We congratulate our thirsty citizens on the encouraging outlook for the speedy construction of this good work, and of the great saving in expense to the tax-payer by opportune advantage taken of the low rates of freight by which a very large per centage of cost has been saved. If no time is lost we shall doubtless be in receipt of an abundance of pure water by November 1st.

OUT WEST.

Some of our people are adopting original fly catchers. Dr. Law says his boys place a little sugar on the door steps, where the flies gather. Half a dozen toads were caught, and the flys pointed out. They do not have to be shown the insects now, however, but climb the steps about every two hours during the day, and catch immense numbers of flies, and then go to rest in the ditch near by. Greeley Tribune.

The democrats in Weld county are badly puzzled as four-fifths of them are greenbackers and are hanging between two fires—whether to put a ticket in the field or all join the greenbackers. In the meantime the politicians are trying to hold the party together, but as the most of the voters in that county are farmers, and are naturally independent, they don't seem inclined to be held. Longmont Press.

H. J. Hammond brought us last week specimens of his crops grown in the park which would shame the products of the Mississippi valley. Specimens of alfalfa, timothy, wheat, oats and lettuce. None of which has been irrigated. The alfalfa is in bloom, timothy in full head, wheat in full head, oats very large and fully set, lettuce as large as a head of cabbage. A nicer display we have never seen in Colorado. San Juan Sentinel.

Thirty-five thousand pounds of ore from the Yankee Boy mine, Mount Sneffles district, was shipped on Monday to Hill's works by the Miners and Merchants bank. On Friday of last week the bank loaded twenty-one hundred pounds of ore, which was packed over the range to Lake.—Ouray Times.

The new smelting works being erected at the mouth of Four-mile creek, by Hunt, Barber & Co., are rapidly approaching completion. When up there a few days ago the large reverberatory furnace was just finished, and they were only awaiting the receipt of a water-jacket furnace from Fraser & Chalmers, of Chicago, to be in shape to begin operations. Their capacity is to be eight to ten tons per day. Boulder Co. Courier.

Rev. J. W. Picket, of Colorado Springs, was in town on Saturday. The telegrams had reported him as the only passenger on the stage coming from Deadwood attacked by robbers Friday morning. He says the stage driver was very anxious for him to ride on the seat with him, and had entertained him with stories of robberies, pointing out the localities. They had just passed Robber's Roost, and thought they were beyond danger of molestation, when order to "Hold on," and six Winchester rifles threatened them. Mr. Picket answered them in his rotund voice, "Men, you make a lean job this time, only two of us, one the driver, and the other a preacher." They were ordered down. Mr. Picket was asked how much money he had, and when he answered that he had but a few dollars, he was molested no farther; but on his telling the driver that when they started again he would ride inside on account of the rain, the captain of the robbers said to him, "Get in;" and taking out the mail bags from the opposite side, said to his men, "We will go through these." They cut the straps of the pouches, emptied the contents on the ground, searched the registered letters and anything else that promised to be valuable, refilled the pouches and returned them to their places The driver told them the boxes were empty, according to the way-bills; but demanding a hatchet they opened one, shook the other, and returned them to their places, threw the hatchet upon the stage top, and called out to the driver, "Go ahead!" Greeley Tribune.
